How Much Do You Love Me?

Rich and Eddie were laying out on the grass together. The summer air was nice on their faces, refreshing. Honestly? For lack of a better word, it really was relaxing. The two of them could stay out here forever just relaxing.

"Hey Eds," Richie started. Eddie turned on the grass to look at him.

"Don't call me Eds, Richie, you know I hate it." he said back automatically. Richie ignored him though. Classic.

"How much do you love me?"

Pressed against each other shoulder to shoulder, and what's more alone, they could let themselves loose a little. They didn't have to worry about being seen, even by their closest friends. They didn't have to worry about being judged. Eddie breathed in the air, and he smiled a little.

"Look up at the stars and try to count them," he said softly to his boyfriend just then. "That's how many times I want to kiss you."

It was a nice moment. A romantic moment.

"...but it's morning."

Eddie grinned and rolled over, pressing a kiss to Richie's cheek sweetly. "Exactly."

"Oh c'mon!"
